Expect To Launch Drive For Lincoln Statue In Gettysburg At Luncheon Here Thursday

Final plans for the luncheon-meeting next Thursday noon at the Hotel Gettysburg officially opening the Lincoln Sesquicentennial year were completed at a meeting Friday afternoon at the hotel.

Those present at the session were members of the Executive Committee of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, Travel Council and Retail Merchants Association, the boards of directors of those groups, and the presidents of the Lincoln Fellowship of Pennsylvania and Gettysburg Civil War Round Table.

Seek Lincoln Statue

In addition to observing the birth of the martyred president there will be projected at the luncheon-meeting an organization to raise funds to erect "the finest statue of Lincoln possible" in Gettysburg. It was also planned to dedicate the memorial on the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, November 19, 1963.

Paul B. Fox, chairman of the Executive Committee, appointed Henry M. Scharf, one of the nine directors of the Executive Committee and a Lincoln Fellowship member, to present the plan at the luncheon.

Fox said: "We are really here on two matters. One is the formal opening of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial year here and the probability of erecting a Lincoln Statue in Gettysburg."

Hope 200 Will Attend

It was the consensus of the 20 persons present at the meeting that Gettysburg should formally open the Sesquicentennial year with a program in keeping with the town's historic significance and its close affiliation with Lincoln.

Several at the meeting expressed the hope that at least 200 Gettysburgians will evidence sufficient

PLAN PROTEST TO COUNCIL ON NEW LIGHTING

Members of the board of directors of the Gettysburg Travel Council and Retail Merchants Association are planning to meet with borough council at its meeting Monday evening at the engine house, to protest the placing of a mercury-vapor "White Way" system in the borough.

A "statement of our position" adopted by the boards of directors of both the Travel Council and Retail Merchants Association Friday afternoon at separate meetings held in the Hotel Gettysburg praises borough council for seeking to improve the lighting system in the center of the town, and holds that "we believe that council has the best intentions in the world in this matter" but holds that "installation of an extremely modern lighting system would be a detriment to the community."

The statement notes that the system planned by council and the Metropolitan Edison Co. is, "as a lighting system, a scientifically designed" ideal, but that Gettysburg, because it is a tourist center, must seek to "present a quaint, Civil War-type impression" if it is to continue to enjoy the tourist business it now has.

In Competition According to the statement, borough council has asked that the town be bypassed and "so we must attract tourists from the by-pass." In addition, according to the statement, "the town is in competition with all other tourist centers in the world."

The officials in their statement hold that the community, if it seeks to "provide a quaint appearance," can attract tourists to visit as well as the battlefield proper. "But a modern town would be no attraction." The modern lighting system, it was held, would destroy any attempt to present an illusion of the Civil War era in the town.

The manner in which property values in other sections of the town have increased three-fold over the last decade or so while property values in the center of the town have little more than remained constant, plus the decline in parking meter collections in the center of the town over the last several months, indicates, according to the statement, that "something must be done to maintain the center of the town or its decline in property value will seriously affect the tax income of the borough."

Members of both boards promised to be present at Monday evening's meeting of council to present their views in addition to offering the statement adopted Friday by the groups.

LIBRARY SEEKS OVER $4,000 IN GIFTS IN 1959

The board of directors of the Adams County Free Library re-elected officers for another year but spent most of its February meeting Friday evening on financial problems.

The directors approved a $22,500 budget, an increase of about $1,000 over last year's financing, but to get the budget to balance had to count on more than $4,000 in gifts.

Whether the money will come from borough councils, school boards, industries, businesses, organizations or individuals, the directors agreed that it must be found if present library services are to be maintained.

Get Less From Chest Last summer the library had to omit the lack of funds the "library curb service" that its bookmobile had provided in the summer of 1957 to a half dozen county towns. Directors were reluctant the library will get several service further this year although reducing the number of hours the main library can be kept open was up for consideration.

The 1959 financial picture is complicated further by the fact that the library will get several hundred dollars less from Community Chest than was anticipated. The Chest has told members it can pay only 88 per cent of its anticipated amount this year. That will give the library $3,520 instead of the expected $4,000.

An appeal is to be made to school districts throughout the county for increased grants to the library. Those who are not contributing at the rate of 25 cents per pupil will be urged to bring it up that level. The 25 cents per pupil rate was recommended by the 1957 county school directors' convention as the minimum amount for school districts to mark for county library use.

Less For New Books The sum allotted for new books is $5,000 in the new budget, a drop of several hundred dollars from last year's spending. There is a five per cent increase for salaries, voted after a year's postponement. Provision is made in the budget for paying an extra $500 on the library mortgage in 1959. Last year the library paid $1,100 in interest.

By JACK KING

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States has launched its second generation missile program with the debut of the powerful Titan.

The new war rocket, shaped like a huge bullet, performed smoothly on a 220-mile limited range flight Friday after failing to fly on two previous attempts. The Air Force said the launching was highly successful.

The blastoff of the intercontinental range ballistic missile signaled the start of an accelerated drive to produce advanced missiles superior to the present weapons in the U.S. arsenal.

PRAY FOR SON IN RED HANDS

SHAMOKIN, Pa. (AP) — Hope and anticipation mingled today as a Shamokin family prayed for an American airman missing with 10 others in a plane shot down by Russian fighters over Soviet Armenia.

"We have not given up hope he is alive. We will never give up hope."

So spoke Edward Oshinski, 28, about his youngest brother, A/C Robert J. Oshinski. The latter was in an unarmed American transport shot down by Soviet fighters last Sept. 2.

Four Vets in Family
"We pray that he—that all 11 of them—are still alive, somewhere in Russia," said Edward as his widowed mother, Mrs. John Oshinski, listened.

Robert is one of four Oshinski boys—all of them veterans. They have a sister, 12.

The family knew little about Robert's assignment after he went overseas in 1955.

"He was a Rumanian interpreter," said Edward. "The air force sent him to school to learn the language. But everything he has done since he went overseas has been classified."

Jail Is Warm For Lost Boys

HARTINGTON, Neb. (AP)—The county jail here is a cozy place. You can take the word of Melvin, 11, and Chester Booker, 14, for that.

Melvin and Chester are two Houston, Tex., Negro boys who about a month ago decided they wanted to go to New Orleans to see grandma and take in the Mardi Gras festival.

So they stowed away on a truck they thought was headed that way. It wasn't. It came up into the cold northland.

Two days later, at a weighing station near Laurel, Neb., the two boys were found cold and hungry and in their words "plain skeered."

They were taken in by Sheriff John Riibe and he still has them. From Houston the boys' mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams, told Riibe she was trying to raise money to send for them.

In the meantime the boys have won the town. Hartington residents gave them warm clothing, invited them to home dinners and took them to high school basketball games.

As for the home in jail—let Melvin tell it: "I'll stay right here! It's cold out there!"

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — The foreign ministers of Greece and Turkey met here today for the second time and reportedly discussed a plan which would give Cyprus independence but bar the island from uniting with Greece.

Fatin Rustu Zorlu of Turkey and Evangelos Averoff of Greece conferred after a meeting Friday which included Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes and Greek Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis.

Humphrey, Red Differ Over Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) has suggested Soviet Premier Khrushchev take his own advice and stop calling Humphrey a peddler of fairy tales.

"My only suggestion is that Mr. Khrushchev recall one point in our conversation on which we agreed—that the cause of peace would be better served if we quit 'name calling' and concentrate instead on ways we might better work together toward a joint and lasting peace," Humphrey said in a statement Friday.

The senator spoke out after Khrushchev, in a Moscow speech, accused Humphrey of distorting several aspects of their talk at the Kremlin in November.

a chase by police in which both vehicles were described as "doing better than 100 miles an hour."

State Policemen Edwin P. Karr and Charles J. Todd told the court they were parked at Hankey's garage near McKnightstown when a car approached from the west at a high rate of speed. Karr said "we poured the coal to it" in a speedy start in pursuit of the vehicle. The other car increased its speed. Karr and Todd told of a chase at better than 100 miles an hour during which the police car "did not gain" on the other vehicle. At Reynolds Ave. the officer noticed the tail lights of the car ahead, at that moment going up the grade at Larson's Cottages, had been extinguished. They later caught the car in Gettysburg.

Special Equipment
Karr and Todd said when they inspected the vehicle they found it to be a 1955 Chevrolet convertible with a 1958 Corvette engine, "a full race engine, shift and transmission, three carburetors, twin exhausts, and racing pipes used for drag racing." They said there was a special "toggle switch" by which the various lights at the rear of the car could be turned off.

Miller said he had not turned off the lights to avoid identification by police. He said he had been on a date with a Wilson College student and as he returned over the mountains a car "followed close and blinked its lights up and down and came up close behind, so close I think our bumpers touched." Miller said he feared a robbery and sped up.

Drag Race Winner
Miller said the other car had "dropped back and then came up again" several times and when the police began pursuit he feared that it was the other vehicle again seeking to stop him. He sought to outrance the other car and turned out the rear lights to escape it when he reached town.

Miller said he had personally made the changes in the design of his car for drag racing, but held he never exceeded the speed limit on the open highway. He went into a technical discussion of why he did not believe that his car had gone 100 miles per hour because its gear shift ratio was designed for quick starts in the quarter-mile drag races rather than for high speeds on the highway. He said he had won a number of trophies in drag racing.

The toggle switch, he explained, was placed in 1955 when he worked during the summer at a resort and "when we took girls out the 'townies' tried to annoy us and the six of us there put toggle switches in our cars so we could turn off lights and thus avoid them."

Support Order Given
Charges of surety of the peace and assault and battery brought respectively by Martha Jane Keene and Ruth Coleman against Thomas Coleman III, Gettysburg R. 5, were dropped and a charge of non-support was placed. Coleman, following a hearing, was ordered to pay $45 per week for the support of his wife and four children and pay rent up to $50 per month, pay the costs and enter into his own bond for $500 to comply with the order.

Howard Diehl, Gettysburg R. 5, was ordered to pay $10 per week for the support of his wife as per an agreement in a support case. The non-support charge against John West Jr., Iron Springs, was ordered continued for six months, to be dropped at that time if no further action in the case takes place during the period.

FILE LOBINGIER WILL
The will of Blanche E. Lobingier, late of Gettysburg R. 3, was entered for probate in the office of the register and recorder today. She bequeathed all her U. S. Steel stock to her husband, Paul M. Lobingier, and her children in equal shares. The remainder of the estate is left to her husband, who was named executor of the estate. Her personal property is valued at $2,500.

GRAB ESCAPEE IN TWO HOURS

ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — Confessed killer Ray Allen Young was captured by Texas officers two hours after he broke out of jail here Friday night.

Young, 32, awaiting trial for the shooting of Oklahoma highway trooper John Barter Jan. 23, picked up his wife—at whom he had fired six shots before his first capture—at a cafe here. He drove a car he stole from Clayton Tinney.

Tinney stepped out of the car, occupied by his wife and their 2-year-old grandson, when Young threatened the boy with his knife.

After getting his wife he headed into Texas and was captured 11 miles north of Vernon at an empty farm. He tried to run down his captors who "kidded the car with gunfire. Young drove the car past the officers into a field and crashed into a garage. Neither he nor his wife resisted arrest."

More Than 99 Pct. Of Town Taxes Paid Last Year, Audit Reveals; Only $6261s Owing

Gettysburg taxpayers had paid all but $626.79 of the amount they owe the borough by the end of 1958, according to the statement of standing taxes affixed to the audit of the borough.

Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert noted that the borough presented its citizens with a bill for $67,888.13 representing the entire 1958 tax duplicate.

The borough residents saved themselves $1,220.74 by paying $59,816.48 before August 1 and thus received a two per cent abatement.

When the time for collecting taxes at par arrived there was $6,850.91 still outstanding and $4,390.10 was paid off during the period, leaving $2,460.81 still to be raised, plus $123.04, the five per cent penalty that had been added.

Better Than 1957
Of that $2,583.85, a total of $1,947.06 had been collected by December 31, leaving $626.79 to be collected of the original $67,888.

The report showed the taxpayers paid up better than they did in 1957, when they ended the year with $1,227.13, plus $454.97 in missed taxes which was discovered by the end of 1957, or a total of $1,682.10. Of that amount $16.04 was collected. The borough exonerated the tax collector of $22.06 worth of 1957 taxes and $43.58 cents worth of taxes were paid as liens on properties of the non-payers. However, the report shows, Weikert collected and turned over $57.20 on the 1957 tax bill after he had been exonerated of the $822, representing payments by those people.

The auditors' report showed $17,439.40 collected by the borough during the year including $1,063.50 from building permits; $17 from Battlefield guide licenses, $15 from garbage collector licenses, $6,760.49 from digging permits, $330 from equipment rentals, $187.85 from reserved meter spaces, $12.50 from sale of Gettysburg maps.

Other Income Items
Motorists paid $5,234 to the borough representing $1 for each of 5,234 parking violations, $15 was received from fuel tank permits, $3,469.06 from the theater tax, $5 from the theater license and $330 from taxi stall licenses.

The borough received $3,324.62 from the state representing the town's share of the tax on foreign fire insurance. The money, in accordance with the law, was immediately turned over to the firemen's relief fund. $2,250 was received from liquor licenses, $3,730.11 from the county as "county aid" for road work. A tax refund of $580.28 from gasoline used by the borough was received along with $108 from the Municipal Authority, $18,794.40 transferred to the general fund after sale of bonds that had been held in a special savings fund. Other income included $80 rent from Paul L. Plank Sr., $139 from Bulleit and Bulleit, $39.50 miscellaneous.

$35,626 For Streets
Expenses included: Highway Department, $35,626.25; police and fire department, $44,462.25 of which $27,537.04 represented payroll of the police department; finance department, $8,323.60; health department, $1,458 and light department, $10,847.68. The cost of lights was divided into $9,397.37 for street lights, $734.81 traffic lights, $516.63 engine house, $12 highway garage, $12 police signal.

"TRUST HIM ALWAYS"

Men often turn just like the wind... for man is very frail... so we must place our trust in God... or in the end we fail... those who may take our part today... may turn from us tomorrow... but with the Master as a friend... we should realize... God is our brightest sun... His tender love is waiting... for all of us to share... and we can gain a wealth of faith... through just a single prayer... so go along in blessed peace... the Lord will show the way... and He will teach us to forgive... the ones who might betray.

HONOR WORK OF MISS DOCK AT CENTENARY

The outstanding work of the late Miss Lavinia Dock in the development of nursing is honored, on the occasion of the hundredth anniversary of her birth, in the February issue of The American Journal of Nursing.

Miss Dock, who died in 1956 after residing for many years at Caledonia with her sisters, was one of Adams County's most outstanding women.

Written by Mary M. Roberts, editor-emerita of the journal, the editorial is headed "We Honor The Memory Of A Citizen Of The World."

Unusual Intellect
The editorial noted that "Miss Dock was a highly effective teacher but of her early professional life she has said, 'My interests were for organization — I cared little for education.' How fortunate for the nursing profession, then and now! Various articles written around the turn of the century and published in the annual reports of the Society of Superintendents of Training Schools for Nurses and in the Journal of Nursing clearly reveal the unusual quality of her intellect. Here was a probing, analytical mind concerned always to seek out and formulate basic principles. This quality was happily combined with a rare gift for vivid exposition. As this will be a 'legislative year' for many state associations, a re-reading of Miss Dock's classic 'What We May Expect From The Law,' first published in 1900 and again in 1950, can be heartily recommended."

The editorial tells of Miss Dock's work to found the American Nurses Association and "promote higher standards in all departments of our work." Her work as secretary of the International Council of Nurses is also outlined noting, "One wishes she might have attained the century mark. She would have gloried in the fact that the ANA is one of some forty-six national organizations now affiliated with the International Council of Nurses."

Lauded As Pioneer
Miss Dock's work at the Henry Street Settlement in New York City and her work for women's suffrage is detailed. The editorial says, "Work at Henry Street settlement in its pioneer days changed the pattern of Miss Dock's life. Always personally frugal, she opened wide her heart and her purse to those in need. The sickness, poverty and social injustices she saw on the East Side of New York stirred her to dynamic action. She became an ardent supporter of unpopular movements aimed to improve the lot of the underprivileged. The movement for women's suffrage appealed strongly to her sense of justice."

The editorial notes, "It is difficult to realize the long years of courageous work needed to win such obvious justice (women's suffrage). Miss Dock was in one of the first groups to go to prison for demanding of the government the right of women to vote. By work and sacrifice such as hers, women's suffrage was won."

"... Lavinia Dock should be honored not only as a pioneer in the field of nursing but as a pioneer and a great worker in the cause of the emancipation of women."

Why doesn't Mommy have a MONUMENT?

Monuments of marble or granite are an American tradition. So much so that any lesser type of memorial seems not only inadequate, but inappropriate—wholly lacking in the sentimental and inspirational values that are an everlasting part of every beautiful monument.

Choose your family plot in a cemetery that allows you the privilege of erecting a monument. Do it now as a family. Don't leave it for some loved one to do alone. Select that monument in advance of need, too. As a local dealer-member of the Monument Institute of America we will gladly assist you in making a decision which you will never have cause to regret.

Today's Talk

I KNOW
I know this day will never come again. Therefore I shall make it the best day in which I have ever lived. I know that happiness is a thing within and that it is always in the world and very near to me. I know I have but to search for it, and that as soon as I begin to hunt it out I have it. Also, I know that as soon as I get happiness and begin to give it away, it comes back doubled—and more, to me. I know this.

I know that work is a stimulus and that it keeps the world alive and moving. I know that the people who work with love in their hearts and interest in their brains are the real doers and benefactors of mankind. I know that I can be a doer and a benefactor.

I know that life is exactly what I make it. I know that other people and other forces can influence my life and work only as I allow it. I know I am young if I live youth. I know that I am happy if I live happiness. I know that I am worth while if I attempt and accomplish worth-while things.

I know that the greatest thing I can ever do is to do my best at all times and under every circumstance.

Just Folks

ALULLABY
Mother's got her baby pillowed safely on her breast,
Softly now the winds of evening blow:
Yonder, too, the golden sun is sinking in the west,
Off to by-lone land it's time to go.

Little bunch of gladness,
Close the weary eyes of you.
Angels fair will guard you
Till your slumber time is through.

All the stars are shining bright,
The moon is overhead,
Gently mother's rocking to and fro;
Dreamland fairies coming to your little trundle bed,
Bringing dreams that only fairies know.

Little bunch of sunshine,
Shut your eyes and sleep.
Angels round your cradle
A watch o'er you will keep.

Soon will come the day time and time to play once more,
Soon will come the sunbeams back again;
So rock-a-bye, my baby, till your slumber time is o'er,
Mother will be waiting for you then.

Little bunch of sweetness,
You have naught to fear.
All the time you're sleeping
Angels will be near.

REFUSE DELAY IN ALEXANDRIA

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Albert V. Bryan Friday turned down a plea by the Alexandria School Board for a delay in admitting nine Negroes to three public schools next Tuesday. The judge said, at the end of legal arguments, that he saw no reason to alter his order for admission of the Negroes Tuesday.

The board pleaded for a delay to give it a chance to carry an appeal to higher courts.

After Judge Bryan's ruling Friday, board lawyers said they did not know yet when asked whether they will seek a delay from Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County The Gettys-Todd Family

By B. F. M. MACPHERSON

The notes on the Gettys family, from the files of the "Adams Centinel," are continued at this time.

5. Wednesday, July 7, 1824 — "Died, Thursday, July 1, 1824, Mary Jane Gettys, daughter of Mr. James Gettys (II), of this place (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania)." Note:—The infant daughter of James Gettys (second of the name) and his wife, Hannah (Dickson) Gettys. This child was the granddaughter of the "Proprietor of the town of Gettysburg." Probably the little girl was first interred in the "Presbyterian Burial Ground," Gettysburg, and her body later moved to the Evergreen Cemetery in 1865 along with other members of her family.

6. Wednesday, November 24, 1824 — "Died, Thursday, November 11, 1824, very suddenly, John Dickson Gettys, infant son of Mr. James Gettys (II), of this borough (Gettysburg, Pennsylvania)." Named For Grandfather Note:—A brother of the Mary Jane Gettys mentioned above. This child was obviously named for his maternal grandfather, John Dickson, Esq., of Straban Township, this county.

7. Monday, May 6, 1833 — "Married, April 23, 1833, by the Rev. D. Gottwald, Mr. John Overholzer to Miss Sarah Ann Gettys, both of Adams County, Pennsylvania." Note:—An unknown branch of the Gettys family tree—but Sarah Ann Gettys was, beyond a doubt, a member of the founding family.

8. Monday, July 22, 1833 — "Died, July 8, 1833, at Athens, Tennessee, Mrs. Hannah Gettys, wife of Mr. James Gettys (II), formerly of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, and daughter of John Dickson, Esq., of Straban Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania." Note:—The above obituary is almost self-explanatory. Hannah (Dickson) Gettys was a daughter-in-law of James Gettys, founder of the town of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. She (Hannah Gettys) was the mother of Mary Jane Gettys and John Dickson Gettys, the two children mentioned earlier in this column.

9. Monday, January 5, 1835 — "Died, December 15, 1834, Mr. John Gettys, of Reading Township, this county, aged 55 years." Note:—Another unknown branch on the Gettys family tree, but as in the case of Sarah Ann (Gettys) Overholzer, undoubtedly a member of the family of Samuel Gettys, the pioneer father of James Gettys, founder of the town of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Came From Ireland According to an article written by a grandson of James Gettys, proprietor of the town of Gettysburg, Samuel Gettys, earliest of the name to be found in America, emigrated to this country from the County of Donegal, Ireland, in 1740. He first settled at Donegal, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, but about 1767 moved to what was at that time the extreme western frontier and became a resident of the Marsh Creek Settlement, in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania.

Here he (Samuel Gettys) died March 17, 1790, and family tradition places his grave in the burial ground of the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church (more commonly known as Black's Graveyard). If his grave was ever marked the stone has long since disappeared.

The family name of the wife of Samuel Gettys, Isabelle, is not known. She was a "half-sister" of Colonel Reynolds Ramsey. Of his paternal grandparents James Gettys II had this to say: "My grandmother, Isabelle Gettys, was blind the latter days of her life and died at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, in 1815. My grandfather, Samuel Gettys, died before I was born. He (Samuel Gettys) had three sons to my knowledge. One of them died at the time of the Revolutionary War with camp fever. Another son, William Gettys, moved to North Carolina in the early days and died there within my recollection. There were several daughters, but all died young as I remember, except two, the wife of the Rev. John Lynn (or Linn), and a Widow Elder."

Roster In Bible The family Bible lists the following children of Samuel and Isabelle Gettys:

1. Mary Gettys — born December 17, 1752.
2. Elizabeth Gettys — born March 10, 1753.
3. William Gettys — born April 2, 1757 — emigrated to North Carolina in 1793 or 1794. Here his descendants are still to be found.

4. James Gettys — born August 4, 1759 — married, December 20, 1791, to Mary Todd — Founder of the town of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania — died March 29, 1815.
5. Ann Gettys — born August 4, 1759 — apparently the twin sister of James Gettys, the "Proprietor of Gettysburg."

6. John Gettys — born December 22, 1761 — emigrated to Cumberland County, Pennsylvania.

7. Isabelle Gettys — born February 26, 1764.

8. Martha Gettys — born August 15, 1768.

There is another tradition that Samuel and Isabelle Gettys were also the parents of two additional sons, namely, Alexander Gettys and Samuel Gettys Jr. Nothing further is known pertaining to this for, at this time, it cannot be proved to be true or false.

Marks 90th Birthday The following item appeared in the "Republican Compiler" on Saturday, November 13, 1915: "Granddaughter of Founder — Mrs. Anna Maria (Gettys) Fisher recently celebrated her 90th birthday at her home at Athens, Tennessee. Mrs. Fisher was born October 6, 1825, and was a daughter of James Gettys II and his first wife, Hannah Dickson, and a granddaughter of General James Gettys. Mrs. Fisher's father moved to Athens, Tennessee, in 1826, when his daughter was about one year old. The journey to the new home was made by wagon and took about a month. Her mother, Hannah (Dickson) Gettys, died when Mrs. Fisher was very young and her father married again. The family again visited Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, when Mrs. Fisher was about eight years of age (1833). At this time her father and stepmother rode in a carriage while the children occupied a covered wagon. Again the journey took a month. Anna Maria Gettys married R. M. Fisher on April 20, 1843."

Republican Compiler, August 8, 1906 — "James Gettys III, grandson of the proprietor of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, died at his home at Athens, Tennessee, July 21, 1906, aged about 70 years. He is survived by four daughters and three sons to perpetuate the name of Gettys."

Note:—A son of James Gettys II and his first wife, Hannah (Dickson) Gettys and a brother of the Anna Marie (Gettys) Fisher mentioned above. Nothing further is known pertaining to this descendant of Samuel Gettys and his wife, Isabelle Gettys.

The late William Arch McClean, Esq., apparently made a study of the Gettys genealogy. Regarding the wife of James Gettys, founder of Gettysburg, Mr. McClean wrote as follows: "Robert Todd was of Scotch-Irish parentage and came to America from the North of Ireland in 1732. He was but five years old at the time and came with his family. Another of the boys (a brother of Robert Todd) was named David. The family settled near Philadelphia, Pennsylvania."

"Mary Todd, the daughter of Robert Todd, was married to James Gettys I on December 20, 1791."

"David Todd, the brother of Robert Todd, went to Virginia and later the family drifted to Kentucky. One of David Todd's sons was Robert S. Todd and he was the father of the Mary Todd who became the wife of Abraham Lincoln. Mary (Todd) Gettys and Mary (Todd) Lincoln were first cousins once removed."

These notes will be continued in a future column.

Donaldson School Destroyed By Fire

DONALDSON, Pa. (AP)—The 14-room Donaldson school building burned to the ground Friday with damage estimated at one million dollars.

The blaze, discovered at about 4:30 a.m. by Elmer Eisenhower, a miner who lives next door to the school, was fanned by 30-mile-an-hour winds. Firemen from six nearby communities were hampered by low water pressure.

The two-story building was insured for $150,000, according to Len Hatter, a member of the Donaldson school board. Hatter said damage would run to a million dollars. The only thing standing after the blaze was the auditorium.

A special meeting was called by the school board to make arrangements for temporary quarters.

More Schools Must Correct Fire Hazards

HARRISBURG (AP)—Another group of school districts were under orders from the State Labor and Industry Department today to eliminate fire or safety hazards in their school buildings.

The order handed down Friday involved these schools: Luzerne — Port Griffith School, Edison Building, Port Griffith. Clinton — North Bend Elementary School, North Bend; South Renovo Elementary School, Renovo.

Northumberland — St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic Grade School, Keiser; Garfield Elementary School, Washington Elementary School, Stevens Grade School, Lincoln Grade School, Grant Grade School, all Shamokin.

Let's Look At The Record

STUDENTS OR IMMIGRANTS
Student Exchange Program Often Criticized;
Overall Values Outweigh Shortcomings

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D., President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

THE GLOW has vanished from the international student exchange program. With the bloom of a bright new idea no longer present, professors are becoming critical. Deans are asking questions. Colleges and universities are tightening rules.

Some professors complain that foreign students are often not up to American academic standards. Some have such language handicaps they are not prepared to benefit by American study in proportion to the cost. There is no reason why individuals should be subsidized merely to learn the English language. They can learn that more cheaply nearer home.

On the other hand, there is the occasional foreign student who, from his European studies, is prepared to take work far more advanced than that for which he is scheduled. For him the year or two in America degenerates into a cynical loaf. These should be required to take more advanced work or leave, teachers insist.

TOO MANY foreign students, some deans point out, work on the principle that all their troubles are over if they can just wangle a student passport to America and with enough aid from their own government, or America, for a one-way steamer ticket. America, the bountiful, will necessarily provide all else including the ultimate deportation passage home.

Back in the homeland, for the rest of their lives, they can get promotions by pointing to a record of "study in America." Some of the stories college officials could tell of such cases would be amusing were it not for the pathos inherent in all. Most of these cases, of course, are from underprivileged regions.

There are a few foreign countries where returning students report their study in America has proved to be a handicap in the job-getting process. In such countries employers are quite satisfied with continuing to do things as the have been doing them and do not want to be bothered with any American ideas.

When the variables in any program are at such extremes as the foregoing, criticism is inevitable and is often wholesome.

A MAJOR CRITICISM one hears increasingly is that many of these subsidized young foreigners are not exchange students at all. They are mere immigrants with no intention of returning to their own country.

In other words, it is a case of the American pasture looking green from the other side and upon their arrival here, the pasture appeared so much greener than they had originally hoped that they just decided to stay.

Nearly every faculty member on every campus can point to a case or two in support of this idea. Others with some cogency argue that a serious, well-educated person is a good one to have around and America is still the winner.

This last thought may be true, but such is not the purpose badge of the American government's aid to the exchange program. It is also the desire of the cooperating foreign countries that holders of student passports return home.

IT IS INEVITABLE that some fine foreign students fall in love and marry splendid American girls. Others have no home to which they can return. A revolution may have ousted the regime with which the passport identifies them. A ticket home could be a ticket to a firing squad.

It is thus inevitable that some exchange students will move heaven and earth to remain in America, without even considering those who prefer the greener pastures.

The Committee on Educational Interchange Policy took all these matters under review. They concede there is no way of knowing how many exchange students become immigrants. The statistics just do not exist and there is no way of compiling them.

From some Rockefeller Foundation reports and similar fragmentary sources, some judicious sampling has been done.

THEY THINK only approximately nine per cent of the exchange students have managed to remain in America. The more highly developed the country from which they come the more the percentage favors their remaining here; for example: twelve per cent from Europe and slightly more than two per cent from the Far East.

On the other hand, Canadians consistently return home, but nearly ten per cent of those from the Near East and from Oceania stick it out here.

Among the professions, the pressure (and with the most success) is strongest from among those who study medicine or who have become M.D.s.

THE FOREGOING seems to be the milk of the coconut insofar as the immigration situation is concerned. It certainly is not the cause for alarm some would have you believe. But it is true that the purpose of the exchange program is being nullified to that extent. The other criticisms in the program can be more easily corrected.

3 AIR FORCE PLANES CRASH ON THURSDAY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three Air Force planes crashed Thursday, killing at least five men. A futile air-and-sea search of the Atlantic continued for an Air Force weather plane.

CITY BLAMES U. S. FOR N. Y. PLANE CRASH

NEW YORK (AP)—A city agency says the federal government is responsible for delay in safety improvements at La Guardia Field, destination of an American Airlines plane which crashed into the East River Tuesday night.

A spokesman for the Port Authority of New York, which operates La Guardia, said Thursday the authority has been ready for three years to build a pier off Runway 22 to provide approach lights for aircraft.

American's prop-jet Flight 320 undershot Runway 22 and smashed into the water. Sixty-five persons died. Three crew members and five passengers survived.

Blames FAA
The authority spokesman, who asked not to be identified, further commented: "The entire responsibility for establishing navigation and safety aids rests with the Federal Aviation Agency."

In Washington Thursday night an FAA spokesman said an instrument landing system for the East River approach to Runway 22 had been authorized and on order since July 1, 1957. He said it takes 18 months to two years to get the needed apparatus assembled, adding that delivery had been promised for October of this year.

Three More Bodies
Three bodies were found Thursday in the tail section of the crashed airliner, brought up from the river bottom. That brought to 25 the number of bodies recovered.

As investigators looked into all phases of what could have caused the crash, Edward Slattery Jr. of the Civil Aeronautics Board said: "The only thing we're sure of is that there is no indication of what caused the accident."

But Flight Engineer Warren E. Cook, 35, a crash survivor in critical condition at Queens General Hospital, has been quoted as saying that the plane's pilots "might have had a mix-up with those new altimeters."

The pilot, Capt. Albert H. De Witt, 50, is dead.

NCAA MAY TRY COLLEGE GRID PAY TV IN FALL

CHICAGO (AP)—The NCAA Television Committee is "quite sympathetic" to pay-as-you-see experimental telecasts of regional college football in Los Angeles and San Francisco next fall.

The committee will act on subscription TV when it reconvenes in Chicago Feb. 16-17 for a final vote on the 1959 football program.

Adjourning a three-day session Thursday, the committee provisionally agreed on a plan similar to that of 1958 which includes 9 national and 4 regional telecasts. The 1959 program, which must be approved by a 2-3 vote in a membership mail referendum, could have a 1-gate variance in the national-regional ratio — either 10-3 or 8-5.

"The committee was quite sympathetic to the experiment," said Asa Bushnell, the committee's TV program director. "We are curious to know what it will be and what it is going to do. There appears to be limitless possibilities."

The committee said a subscription TV firm (Skiatron) has applied for — and may get — permission to present regional college football in Los Angeles and San Francisco on a test basis.

Kane, All-Court Press Give Hounds 58-44 Win Over GHS; Scrubs Victors

Gettysburg High couldn't solve two problems here Friday evening and suffered a 58-44 drubbing at the hands of the Shippensburg High dribblers in a South Penn League game.

The first problem was stopping husky Jeff Kane 6-3, who controlled the boards and poured 28 points through the hoops, most of his goals coming from comparatively easy lay-ups the shorter Warriors were unable to do much about.

Probably the most irritating problem was advancing the ball over the midcourt stripe, particularly in the last half when the Greyhounds time and again made pure thefts or intercepted passes.

Gettysburg was in contention only in the first half and faded out considerably during the second quarter. Mike Small landed a short toss to get the Warriors off on the right foot after half a minute. Four straight fouls by Kane put the Hounds ahead. Crist netted a lay-up and Kane a tap-in. A long shot by Crist and his foul sent Gettysburg ahead 7-6. After Kane converted a free toss, Sid Weikert connected on a jump toss. Sheldon VanScyoc netted a foul and Kane a goal before Crist hit on a long toss to put the Warriors on top 11-10 at the quarter.

Hardy Nichols tallied on a lay-up to open the second frame. Don Pugh got a goal for the visitors after which Nichols looped a foul for Gettysburg's final lead at 14-12 after 54 seconds had elapsed. Chester Jones and Pugh netted goals and VanScyoc a pair of fouls before Furney flipped in a one-hander for the locals. Shippensburg then picked up seven straight points to lead 25-16 at half time.

The Forneymen could not make a dent in the Hound lead during the third period as the visitors led 34-24 entering the final round. Nichols landed a pair of goals and foul, Weikert a goal and Don Coldsmith a foul to account for the Warriors points. Pete Sullivan and Kane each landed a pair of goals for the visitors.

Gettysburg collapsed almost completely in the early minutes of the final round when Shippensburg went into an all-court press that the Warriors were unable to cope with and soon the Hounds' lead rocketed to a foolproof lead at 49-29 midway in the period. During the last quarter Kane dropped through five goals with five other players adding one each. Furney and Small each landed eight and Coldsmith four for Gettysburg.

Furney and Small were high men for Gettysburg with 10 points each.

Scrubs Show Form

The fast-improving junior varsity avenged an earlier season loss by capturing a hard-fought preliminary 46-39. Don Waddell, Greg Maitland and Howard Miller each broke into double figures.

Next Tuesday the Warriors squads will invade Waynesboro. Gettysburg G F P

Rats, Unless Controlled Will Chew Hunks Of Profit From Adams County Farms

By FRANK ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

Rats will chew a big chunk out of Adams County's farm profits again this year unless they are controlled.

Winter is a good time to take definite steps in ridding farms of these costly rodents. Rats and mice not only consume a lot of grain and feed, but they also carry diseases of livestock and humans and contaminate large quantities of grain.

Frank S. Zettel

Any grain, like wheat, which contains rodent, bird, or insect contamination, is unfit for human consumption and is good only for feed.

New developments in the field of rodent poisons make it possible to control the most severe rat and mouse infestations. Poisons like warfarin and pival are very effective and safe when used properly. Warfarin and pival are available ready mixed, as ready-to-use baits, or as concentrates which must be mixed with a suitable food like corn meal or rolled oats.

The secret to success in using these poisons, which are anticoagulants, is to put them where the rats can eat regularly and to use plenty of bait so that the rodents always have a supply available. These are accumulative poisons and must be eaten for at least four or five consecutive days. If the rats eat it for one or two days and then go without the bait for a few days, they'll recover from the poison, and the baiting must be started over again.

Warfarin and pival are also available in water soluble forms. These are mixed with water so the rats can get their poison by drinking it. It is of no value if frozen.

Protect the bait from other animals and children, because they will kill any warm-blooded animal if eaten in repeated doses. Any poisoning program will be cheaper and more effective if the rats have unfavorable conditions on the farm. Complete sanitation, rat-proofed buildings, and clean-up of rat shelters will make life more difficult for rats.

Smuts, Seedling Blights

Smuts and seedling blights can cause a reduction in yield of oats. Since both smut spores and seedling blights may be carried on the seed, treatment is recommended for all oat seed to be planted in the spring. Smut diseases appear in the field before harvest as black spore masses in the heads in place of the grain. Seedling blights attack young seedlings.

Mercury Fungicide

Treatment recommended for all varieties of oats, not known to be free of smut, is with an organic mercury fungicide such as Ceresan M, panogen, etc. Ceresan M is a dust that may be supplied with a Minnesota gravity box treater, in rotating drums, or commercial treaters. Panogen is a liquid and should be used according to manufacturers' directions. Rates per bushel of seed are 1/2 oz. for Ceresan M, 3/4 fluid oz. for Panogen 15, or 1/4 oz. for Panogen 42. Follow all precautions in treating.

Planting of smut-resistant varieties reduces smut but these varieties usually benefit from mercury seed treatments for seedling blights and reduce the danger of smut development. Lambing time is probably the

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I have used a sprayer for painting wood, but never for metal. Is there any difference in the technique?

ANSWER: No. The fundamentals for spraying wood or metal are the same. However, in spraying metal, you must use extra care to be certain that the area being sprayed is completely free of all oil and grease. If you undertake a spray job on anything like an automobile, the trick is to follow a system by which the overspray always falls on an uncoated area. Newspapers and masking tape must be used to prevent the spray from falling on the chrome and glass surfaces.

QUESTION: Can you tell me the difference between matched lumber and ship lap lumber? Until recently, I thought they were the same.

ANSWER: Matched lumber is what is more popularly known as tongue-and-groove lumber; that is, a tongue along one edge fits into a groove along the edge of another piece of wood. Ship lap lumber has a lap joint (usually a rabbet) so that two pieces of wood fit together snugly.

most important period in the year for the sheepman. Each lamb lost means a loss of from $16 to $20 or more. These management practices should be checked.

1. Have ewes in a thrifty, vigorous condition. Adequate feed with good parasite control measures will help to insure their condition. Feeding program should include 1/2 pound of grain per ewe per day at least two weeks before lambing.

2. Crotch out ewes before lambing. Remove wool from the back portion of twist to dock, and from around the udder.

3. Use individual lambing pens, with heat lamps. Keep lambing area dry, and free from drafts.

4. Apply tincture of iodine to the naval cord of all new-born lambs.

Tummy Full First

5. See that the new-born lamb gets a good start with a tummy full of "first" or colostrum milk. If the lamb's mother does not come to their milk immediately borrow some from another ewe with a plentiful supply.

6. Adopt orphans, or one of a set of twins or triplets, to a ewe that has lost her lamb, or to a heavy milking ewe that has only one lamb.

7. Creep feed lambs as soon as they will start eating. Heat lamps over the lamb creep will help to get lambs into the creep.

8. Dock all lambs, and castrate buck lambs, at 10 to 14 days of age.

9. Increase grain ration of ewes after lambing to one pound of grain per ewe per day.

10. Use small grain pastures where possible.

11. Continue creep feeding of lambs until ewes go on regular spring pastures.

What's new on the market? For one thing — A pushbutton sink.

This new concept for water flow control is operated by six push-buttons. One is for hot water, one for warm water and one for cold water. There is another button for a medium flow, another for a full flow and still another for a complete shut-off.

The control is operated electrically on a 24-volt system and has been approved by Underwriters' Laboratories. While specially designed plumbing fixtures are available for new installations, the unit can be used in existing fixtures.

Also — A concrete curing blanket.

This new product protects freshly-poured concrete from inclement weather and freezing temperatures. It is a flexible, resilient, felt-like blanket of fibrous glass enclosed in a polyethylene film. It allows relatively little water loss and temperature variations during the curing period and is designed for repeated use after rough service.

Also — A plastic paint can rim with a ceramic magnet.

This rim fits standard quart or gallon cans of paint, glue or any other material applied by brush or spatula. The built-in magnet holds the brush or spatula on the inside of the can when wet and on the outside of the rim when cleaned and ready for storing. There is a beveled pouring spout and a brush-drip ridge around the rim, which is removable, washable and resistant to chemicals.

Also — A new house paint that can be applied to a damp surface.

The manufacturer of this paint claims that using it will end the prolonged delay in painting the outside of a house because of dew or rain. It's an acrylic emulsion that dries to the touch in 30 minutes and is said to be ready for a second coat in one hour.

Also — A wall switch without a toggle or button.

All that is visible is a flat, straight-sided, rectangular wall plate of similar size to the regular bevel-sided plate. The new switch is mounted in a standard wall box. The big difference is that the light is turned on merely by touching the plate rather than flipping the toggle switch or pushing a button. Present plans call for the plate to be made in solid black or solid white, but it is likely that many colors will be introduced later on if the idea is successful.

What kind of floor finish should you use?

The manufacturers of shellac will tell you that this old-line product is still the best floor finish on the market. Those who make varnish say that nothing gives as attractive an appearance nor wears as well. The makers of penetrating sealers state that, for ease of cleaning and long life, the finish must sink into the wood. The same argument is used by the supporters of penetrating waxes. And those who put out the synthetic floor-finish materials are certain their products combine all the advantages of the older and better-known finishes.

Difference Of Opinion

This difference of opinion is not confined to the men whose incomes depend on the sales of their goods. Every professional wood finisher has his particular favorite, not only among types of floor finishes but among brands. When you refinish a floor yourself — and sometimes when you Sinks into the wood and hardens at the surface to seal the floor against dirt, moisture and stains. Easy to apply. When it wears in one place, more sealer applied to the spot will blend into rest of finish. Should be waxed regularly to prevent premature wear.

PENETRATING WAX — Somewhat similar to penetrating sealer, except that it also leaves slight surface coating.

SYNTHETIC FINISH, usually plastic — Generally more expensive than most other finishes, but produces hard, tough, long-wearing surfaces that usually require no waxing.

PAINT — Where the grain pattern is indifferent or the wood is scarred or discolored, floor enamel is the usual prescription.

CYCLIST IS KILLED

LANDISBURG, Pa. (AP) — David C. Baker, 20, Landisburg R. 1, was killed in the collision of his motorcycle and a car on Route 850 near this Perry County Community Friday night.

Baker was dead on arrival at Carlisle Hospital. The car driver, Ralph E. Wright, 38, Wila, Perry County, suffered a fractured left knee and right wrist.

VOTE DRAFT CONTINUANCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Extension of the military draft, overwhelmingly approved Thursday by the House, headed today for slower action in the Senate.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said hearings on the legislation will be held in "ample time before the expiration of the law," June 30. However, no time was set.

The House, taking up the draft extension bill as one of its first items, passed it 381-20 Thursday in just the form President Eisenhower and the Pentagon had recommended.

The bill would extend until June 30 1963, the government's authority to draft young men for military service. It also would extend special provisions for calling up doctors and dentists previously deferred to complete their education and would continue special benefits for dependents of military personnel.

Yale basketball coach Joe Vancin formerly served for eight years as an assistant basketball coach at Minnesota. He's from Bridgeport, Conn.

MAN MURDERS HIS BABY IN MOVIE HOUSE

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A woman screamed hysterically in the darkness: "He's killing my baby."

An usher snapped on the theater lights, and some 50 patrons turned in their seats. They saw Jose Longoria slashing wildly with a pocket knife at a small boy, his son Steven.

The 4-year-old died quickly of body wounds.

The mother, Violet, 25, sobbing as she was taken to a hospital for treatment of shock, told police the story.

She and her husband were estranged. She and Steven were living with her parents. Longoria, 32, was released from jail only last Thursday after serving time for drunken driving. He asked to meet her Thursday to discuss future custody of the boy.

Offers No Resistance
The child sat enthralled by the movie, one specifically aimed at youngsters. His parents became more and more embroiled in a bitter discussion.

Apparently no one heard them.
They were in the back row of the spacious Warner Theater. Most of the other patrons were down front, or in the balcony.

Suddenly, police said, Longoria flashed the knife.

A patron, David Cole, was the first to reach Longoria when the lights went on. The father offered no resistance.

Police said Longoria had told them he felt the child was under a bad influence.

"I love my son, but I'd rather have him dead than grow up to be a juvenile delinquent," he said.

Longoria, an onetime investigator for a private detective agency and lately a laborer, was charged with murder.

Allies Are Determined To Preserve Unity Against Reds

By DAVE MASON

PARIS (AP) — Allied preparations to counter the Soviet Union's Berlin threat picked up speed Friday as Secretary of State John Foster Dulles met with French leaders and British Prime Minister Macmillan made plans for his Moscow trip.

Diplomats in Paris said Dulles, in the second stop of his listening tour would find the French determined to preserve Western unity in dealing with Moscow on Germany.

Dulles called first on Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. Then he went to see President de Gaulle, whose independence in the past has given his allies worries moments.

Cheer Macmillan
Britons of all political complexion cheered Prime Minister Macmillan's decision to fly to Moscow Feb. 21 for what he called a reconnaissance mission.

The suave 64-year-old Macmillan was depicted in the British press as a "diplomatic prince charming out to win the hearts of the Soviet people." Some newspapers predicted the trip would lead to an early East-West summit conference.

Dulles openly — and the French privately — endorsed the Macmillan venture as possibly useful, but they did not share the British public's expectation that it might start a thaw in the cold war.

Waiting Role

One thing was clear: the West will await Macmillan's return from talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev before forging any new proposals on the reunification of Germany to counter Soviet demands that the Allies get out of West Berlin.

Dulles still insisted that he is carrying no new proposals in his European tour of London, Paris, and Bonn. He implied he is doing

NEW YORK (AP)—Curt Sachs, 77, noted German-born historian, author, and teacher in the field of music, died Thursday after a brief illness. Sachs was a highly regarded professor of musicology and curator of Berlin's Museum of Musical Instruments until he fled Nazi Germany in 1933.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Dr. Samuel Wheeler Edgcombe, 52, of Decatur, Ill., dean of faculty of agricultural sciences and professor of horticulture at the American University of Beirut, died Thursday of heart disease. He formerly was professor of horticulture at Iowa State and head of the department of horticulture at Utah State.

News Briefs

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Vacationing President Eisenhower may turn from quail hunting to golf today.

He came South for both but concentrated on bird shooting the first two days of his stay as the guest of George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury.

MESQUITE, Tex. (AP)—When officers in this Dallas suburb entered a storm sewer to rescue teenagers believed trapped there, they had a surprise Friday.

Persons in the vicinity saw smoke curl out of the sewer after seeing two boys enter it. They feared they were trapped in the fire.

Police didn't find the boys, Sgt. D. V. Lynch said, "but we did find about $300 worth of stolen carpenter's tools, electric drills and sanding machines. The stuff was stacked in a tunnel section lighted by fire-oil smudge pots the boys had swiped."

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Chief of Police W. Cleon Skousen issued this memo to his department:

"Explosives, such as dynamite, blasting powder, detonating caps, grenades, etc. are not to be placed in our evidence room."

The evidence room is in the basement directly under Skousen's office.

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Mrs. Nora Otero took time off from her state revenue job Friday to give birth to a five-pound daughter in the State Capitol. Two friends she works with, Mrs. Dolores Martinez and Mrs. Elisaida Trujillo, delivered the baby in a basement supply room. Mother and daughter are fine.

more listening than talking.

He also left the way open for a possible shift in Allied strategy. Arriving in Paris, he spoke of planning an "exchange of views" and added that the talks were being held "while we are in the formative stages of our thinking."

The U.S. secretary said no policy decisions could be expected yet but that he wanted to "make sure our ideas are developing along parallel lines."
